DECISION BINGO Rules of Play

Card Stock Decision bingo is played on hard cards or paper with the conventional 24 number face. Balls are numerically numbered from 1 though 75.

Play of Game Bingo numbers are called in the conventional manner. Players enter a game by paying 50¢ for each card in play. This is the buy-in. Three numbers (balls) are then called. After the three numbers are called, players decide whether to continue or stop playing. If the player continues to play, then they must ante up 25¢ for each card in play. All cards not in play are turned face down on the table. Once a card is out of play, it remains face down for the game. Three more numbers (balls) are then called. The players again decide whether to continue or stop play. If the player continues to play, then they must ante up another 25¢ for each card in play. The bingo game continues in this fashion until a bingo is achieved and a winner declared. The prize to be awarded to the winner of the game is the total value of the antes received during the play of the game, not to exceed $100 per game.

Object of Game The object of each game within the decision bingo event is to achieve a pre-announced bingo pattern.

Type of Bingo Bingo pattern can be single line, double line, triple line, or coverall.

Cost to Play Initial Buy-in of 50¢ per card.

Each Ante is 25¢ per card.

Value of Buy-in Initial buy-in earns player the privilege to play the first three numbers called.

Value of Ante Each Ante earns player the privilege to play the next three numbers called.

Prize Payout Total of all Ante money (not to exceed $100). Prize payslips must be completed and retained the same as any bingo prize.

Gross Receipts Total of all Buy-in and Ante money.
